Ramsay MacDonald's Appeal for Ratification of Six Billion Mark Guarantee Received in Negative by Teuton Foreign Minister

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, June 30.—Germany refused today to agree to a suggestion by France that she deposit a 6,000,000,000 mark bond with the world bank in lieu of repatriation bonds pending negotiation of revised debt agreements with the United States.

Baron Kuntze, German foreign minister, commuted the negative reply to Ramsay MacDonald, prime minister of Great Britain, after having consulted with the rest of the German delegation and his cabinet colleagues in Berlin.

The safeguard clause was embodied in a French compromise plan on financial and foreign matters. MacDonald pleaded with the Germans to accept the proposal.

BRITAIN MAY LEVY HEAVY IMPORT DUTY

Default of Land Annuities Payment at Midnight to Call for Swift Measures Against Free State.

DUBLIN, June 30.—The Irish Free State was today officially notified that the government of the Irish Free State would default on the semi-annual instalment of £1,500,000 in land annuities due at midnight to the national debt commissioners of Great Britain.

The government therefore will be obliged to pay the annuities at midnight to the British government. An equivalent amount will be collected by special levies on imports from the Free State.

The semi-annual payment of £1,500,000 was due at midnight tonight and it was recognized in London that President Eamon De Valera had no intention of making the payment, which is due to the national debt commissioners on behalf of holders of Irish land stock.

The government therefore will be obliged to pay the annuities at midnight to the British government. An equivalent amount will be collected by special levies on imports from the Free State.

Saskatchewan Badly Battered By Three Cyclonic Hail and Wind Storms

DEVASTATION STALKS WAKE OF ELEMENTS

Garages, Outhouses, Elevator Ripped—Wires All Down

REGINA, Sask., June 30.—For the third time in the past ten days farmers and residents at scattered points in the province Thursday morning were taking stock of crop and property damage caused by the brief storms that struck with devastating effect Wednesday evening.

At Regina, the north of heavy hail, swept by winds of almost cyclonic intensity, indicated 100 per cent crop damage, with full force of the storm striking at Kinsley, where the six-mile strip of heading out crop was cut off by the wind.

HEAVY DOWNPOUR
At Kinsley, south-east of Regina, ten inches of high wind coming after a heavy downpour of rain, left a trail of wrecked barns, tangled telegraph wires and broken poles.

Starting at a point 12 miles north of Stoughton, around 10 miles south of Regina, a swath in a south-easterly direction, causing damage ranging from 50 to 100 per cent. At Kinsley, the storm swept there about 5:30. There followed a few minutes heavy rain and then a fall of hail that lasted for three miles wide and nine miles long.

WINDS BROKEN
Winds were broken in farm dwellings and crops in many places. At Kinsley, the storm swept there about 5:30. There followed a few minutes heavy rain and then a fall of hail that lasted for three miles wide and nine miles long.

POLES BLOWN OVER
The town itself several poles were blown over, trees broken, and uprooted and damaged. The storm swept there about 5:30. There followed a few minutes heavy rain and then a fall of hail that lasted for three miles wide and nine miles long.

and would in many ways be similar to the old German Reparations Bill.

The Free State government has long declared its intention of holding the annuities payment, having in fact campaigned on this issue, and the abolition of the annuities, before the general elections of last February, which gave the Republicans a majority in the Dail and the reins of government.

The only contention made by the Free State has been an offer to submit the payments to arbitration by an international tribunal. The British government has expressed willingness to have them arbitrated by an Empire Tribunal, but not an international body.

Many Men Were There In Past Life Of Nurse St. Pierre

Twice Married, But Husband Developed "One Great Love"

LOS ANGELES, June 30.—Eleven defense witnesses have testified there were many men in the life of Myrtle Joan St. Pierre, nurse, who seeks $200,000 for alleged breach of promise from David Hutton, singer husband of Aimee Simpson.

Marie Jones, defense attorney, said there were more to appear today in an effort to disprove the contention of the two-married brunette that her association with Hutton developed into the "one great love."

The calling of these witnesses was expected to delay until late in the day the testimony of Hutton, who has expressed a desire to take the stand and "show the girl's story to pieces."

John C. Edwards, secretary-treasurer of the Atlantic Improvement Association of Los Angeles, said that as a neighbor of Miss St. Pierre in Hollywood in 1928, he believed the girl was the same woman who had been married to Hutton.

The witness was asked by his lawyer to testify that the girl was the same woman who had been married to Hutton.

John Lee, born and raised here, said George Davis, a friend, brought Miss St. Pierre to the Levi apartment and introduced her as "his girl."

WILL NOT BRONWON-RESIDENT HIGH STUDENTS

Plan to Eliminate Grade 12 Pupils From Outside Quashed by Board

A recommendation from the school superintendent that non-resident grade 12 students be eliminated from the high schools was heavily quashed by the Edmonton Public School board, meeting in committee of school management Wednesday evening.

Superintendent G. A. McKee, who advocated the policy, stated that he felt that the non-resident students should not be asked to pay for the privilege of attending the high schools.

With the board meeting, the morning practice reading, being of the nature of money and other things, the board decided to quash the plan.

TWO RESIGN IN PROPERTY GROUP

Baby Bond Issue May Solve Vancouver Voes

NEW MYSTERY MAN INJECTED IN LINDY CASE

Police Intimate They Are on Trail of Baby Killers

EDMONTON, N.J., June 30.—On the trial of the alleged slayer of John Hughes Curtis has come a definite clue that police have a definition of men under suspicion as the kidnappers and murderers of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr.

Population regarding who they might be and whether an arrest was near-shaped interest with the revelation of the trial today, the Toronto mail, arrived at inspecting justice to leading Col. Lindbergh on fruitless trips to see a time when his baby was dead.

The disclosure came from France.

The eternally interesting themes of love and marriage, of family and business life, constitute the story.

East Bear Lake Shore May Have Wireless Station

A new northern wireless station may be erected to serve the mining field on the east shore of Great Bear lake, according to Captain R. H. Hastings, in charge of all radio stations in the northward, when asked about plans for this summer.

This new station, if built, will be located at or near Fort Rye, it was stated by Captain Hastings, the present station in operation at Great Bear—once taken over from Donkey Landing, being a being satisfactory in winter respects.

Captain Hastings stated also that the question had been raised of erecting a wireless station at Fort Rae but this will not be practicable at present.

CAMROSE ASKS THAT NORMAL BE CONTINUED

Delegation Presents Appeal to Premier—24-Hour Hoist Taken

Proposed, or rumored, closing of the Camrose Normal school—about which no announcement has yet been made by the government—brought a delegation of between 200 and 300 residents of Camrose to this city on Thursday to interview Premier J. E. Brownlee and members of the government with a view to having the school continue in operation, if any plans were on foot for closing same.

The premier said that within the next 24 hours he would be in a position to state definitely whether the school would continue in operation, if any plans were on foot for closing same.

Mr. J. A. Code, of Camrose, and Frank P. Layton, president of the Board of Trade, headed the delegation. They stressed the value of the school to the town and emphasized the fact that it was estimated that students spent $25,000 a year in the town, and the loss of this money to the town would be a serious matter.

SIXTY-EIGHT INVOLVED

They also said 61 Camrose residents were dependent on their livelihood upon Normal school teachers.

In reply, Premier Brownlee, who was accompanied by Hon. Vernon W. Smith, Minister of Railways and Telephones and Member of the Legislature for Camrose, and Hon. Perren Baker, Minister of Education, stated that if the arguments and not the numbers of the delegation that impressed him.

He pointed out that of the total enrollment at Camrose last year of 125 students, only 19 gave their addresses as Camrose.

In Edmonton more than 100 out of 225 enrolled gave Edmonton as their home address.

USE AT COST

Replying to the argument that closing of the normal school would deprive educational facilities in the town, the Premier stated that the town could continue to use the school building at cost, that is by paying for light, heat and upkeep.

Camrose was allotted a total of 160 students, but 133 attended. Edmonton was allotted 140 students and 228 enrolled.

The Edmonton and Calgary normal schools are large enough to take care of all student teachers now enrolled, and Calgary has a comfortable surplus of 300, while Edmonton can spare 500. Last year the total enrollment was for 700, and this will be reduced in the province this year. If the Camrose school was closed some of the teachers would be absorbed in the other schools. The estimated saving is $20,000 a year.

Cadi Suggests That Legislature Define "Property" in Act

Crop Payment Protection Act is Confusing, is Claim

Suggestion that the legislature define what it means by "property" in the Crop Payment Protection Act was made by Mr. Justice Ford this morning when an important special case was submitted to him in which the right of the Debt Adjustment corporation was raised by R. D. Tihoe, K.C.

The judgment, which was reserved, may affect many hundreds of cases dealt with by the Debt Adjustment Bureau.

Mr. Tihoe was appearing for Lars T. Torgerson, who sold to Spady Brothers in August, 1927, about 170 acres of land at Wainwright, about a hundred head of cattle.

The purchase price was $30,000, to be paid with half of each year's crop.

WAS 5700 SHORT

Spady Brothers, getting into difficulties, sought the protection of the Debt Adjustment Act, with the result that Wm. Loebe, director under the act, took over the supervision of the farm. He sold the whole of the 170 crop made payments to creditors, paid taxes and gave Spady Brothers funds to enable them to carry on, with the result that he was over $700 short of the sum needed to give Mr. Torgerson his half crop payment. Mr. Tihoe asked a permanent judgment against Mr. Loebe.

There was considerable argument between His Lordship, Mr. Tihoe and Norman Bick, counsel for the director, as to whether Mr. Loebe was liable, or was afforded protection by the Public Official Act.

Mr. Tihoe argued that while the Debt Adjustment Act provided for all the debtor's property being taken in charge of by the director, that his client's half interest in the crop never was the property of the director, and would not therefore be legally seized and administered by the director.

VIRTUALLY TEST CASE

"This is an important case," observed His Lordship in saying that it should have been brought on upon the last day of the court before vacation. He said, "It is virtually a test case. What was done in hundreds of other cases by the director. If only the act had contained a definition of 'property' the whole matter could easily be decided. Does 'property' here mean the whole crop?"

Mr. Tihoe "If it does it might just as well provide for the director selling a mortgaged farm clear of the mortgage."

His Lordship—"The legislature has power to do so. It may come to that if things keep on as they are."

In reserving his decision, Mr. Justice Ford made the suggestion that the legislature should define the meaning of "property" in the act. That would cure the whole matter," added Mr. Justice Ford.

Courts Ready For Summer Holidays

There is hurry and scurry at the court house today to dispose of the urgent matters before the summer vacation which begins on July 1 and extends through till the end of August.

One of the Supreme court judges will attend to conduct chambers and hear urgent applications on each Monday morning, and among the criminal trials will be held. Owing to the court's busy holiday until the beginning of September.

MAYOR BURGESS ASSUANCE OF WITNEY BONDS

Plan to be Taken by Public Without Appeal to Banks

VANCOUVER, June 30.—Assurance of $10,000 in civic debentures of denominations ranging from $1 to $20 which may be used to finance public works without appealing to banks for loans at high interest rates, is proposed by Mayor Louis D. Taylor.

The mayor suggests submission of a $10,000 bond by the people as a means of financing public works without appealing to banks for loans at high interest rates, is proposed by Mayor Louis D. Taylor.

"The holder of these certificates," the mayor said, "could cash them at face value for groceries, and the grocer in turn could pay them to the wholesaler, to his landlord and other creditors. The landlord could exchange them for his tax payments."

in the same length of time, had they been empty planes.

In the morning there had been preliminary flying, planes soaring in the air, but no one was in the air. The planes flew in close together, their wings seemed to touch. They took strange shapes, like a great sled, a vast machine, a long, low, flat, out-mountain, roaring, made of many units, each keeping its place.

At the laying of a smoke screen, one of the planes, a single plane, a high and wide machine to hide whole squadrons of planes to hide showed how hapless attack from the ground would be, with planes above. In modern war, land armies and floating vessels would need squadrons of planes to hide and protect them.

Surfing to speculators was the performance of James Parker, an expert test pilot, "valiant flying" in the dark. The ship went out a trail, a high, swift, giving absolutely perfect imitation of a ship.

He rose at first, high in the air, then came down, a "ship" as he straight up, as elevator rising in its shaft, then, turning, as a special rocket, then, he dropped to the ground, a "ship" in the air.

R. C. Miles, the All-America football star, who pilots his own plane, said, "I wish I had a machine like this. I could make it do anything I want. But isn't it worth it to do what he is doing?"

WOMEN are the ones, everywhere, determined to control, apart from "more production of babies." That production is their most important work. Nothing else really counts, except creating a better life.

However, they must decide: the Englishwoman, Lady Catherine Carnegie, crossed the English Channel yesterday on a ship board, driven by a power boat, in 55 minutes. Miss Compstone of New Zealand crossed in the opposite direction in 62 minutes.

DAVIDED women here hand out leaflets, asking you to stick to prohibition, and you say with John Doe, "I'm a simpleton." Other ladies bring you ice cream in a restaurant, wearing little caps labelled "We Want Beer."

They are good ladies, will do anything, will suffer but a moment. He will suffer but he lives.

CHARLES BANA GIBSON'S clever publication, Life, publishes in Chicago's Herald-Examiner, in today's page on prohibition that "Gibson's Simpletons" in every newspaper. Gibson deserves public thanks for his contribution to public opinion. Says Ben: "Liquor can be had in open drinkery, but in any city, town or hamlet, Ask any bell boy or policeman. Wherever you go a quick halloo is apt to come to a bar."

Mr. Gibson asks his readers to elect the chairman of the resolutions in Chicago the following in voice, "That repeal in your platform. I'll help you win."

FATHER CRITIC OF DOWRY PLAN

DEAR MISS DIX—I do not agree with what you say in regard to a girl coming to her young husband with a dowry or money some one else has earned. If the two young people were workers and each had saved up something, then we would have the only union in marriage that is worth a nickel. The curse of our people today is that they have got to work hard for I have four children and have never seen them a penny after they were 16 years old. My two daughters have been warned that when they marry, if their husbands cannot support them they are out of luck so far as getting help from Dad is concerned. A FATHER.

Answer.—Your contention was that if a father has reared up his daughter in the lap of luxury, if he has cultivated in her ego the desire to be a social butterfly, and she has been accustomed all her life to soft living and Paris flattery, then it is his duty to provide her with a dowry that will enable her to go on living in the way in which she has been bred. He should not expect any poor young man alone and unaided, to assume the burden of providing his pampered daughter with the funds to which she has been used.

It isn't fair to the young man, for it sells him into slavery to the department store and the automobile dealer and the beauty parlor. And it isn't fair to the girl, because it thrusts her into a lower scale of living, and there are on many young women who have the strength of character to accept philosophically the change from being waited on by a host of servants to doing their work from rising in a limousine, waiting, and from wearing imported French models to wearing hand-me-downs. Our unsatisfied desires make a point to us.

Any of us can make a half a dozen cases we know of marriages that have gone on the rocks for no other reason than that the young wives could not endure the poor living that was all their husbands could afford them, and these catastrophes could all have been averted if the girl had been provided with a dowry by her father that would have given her at least a few of the luxuries to which he had accustomed her.

Another reason I advocate the giving of dowries to girls is because it would enable many poor young couples to marry with the help of a little young and ardent infatuation of having to wait until the fire of their passion had cooled while the man is toiling on to get a position to support a family unaided.

And still another reason why I believe in dowries for girls is because of the happiness and independence it gives a woman to know that she has a little something of her own and that she

Lady Bessborough and Baby

LADY BESSBOROUGH the charming chateleine of Rideau Hall, C. W., and wife of Canada's Governor-General, in a recent pose with her baby, born last year in Montreal. This was the second child of a governor-general to be born during his father's term of office in Canada. Lord and Lady Bessborough are expected in Edmonton on their first visit in September.

What's What By HELEN DUCIE

Question.—What is the proper procedure when calling upon a business man with whom you have met and conversed regarding a position several years ago? I have seen the man, Mr. Z, several times since, but I am of the opinion that he does not remember me. Should I introduce myself to him, if she is passing his table on her way out of the dining room? What should he say? Would it be proper for her to ask to go out for a stroll on the boardwalk?

Answer.—When calling on a business man during business hours, the interview is likely to be brief and to the point. The fact that you applied once to Mr. Z for a position does not constitute an acquaintance with him. If you must see him, telephone in advance for an appointment.

The other question relates to a reversal of social contacts. It is quite proper for a girl to say "How do you do, Mr. Thompson?" to a former business acquaintance as she is passing his table. She may add, "I'm Miss Robinson," and in the circumstances, Mr. Z should await Mr. Thompson's invitation (if any) to go out for a walk.

What New York
Is Wearing
By ANNABELLE WORTHINGTON

2859

When you study this smart model, you'll see its really very slenderizing, full of charm and so thoroughly wearable.

To be certain, it has the best known slimming feature—the deep V-front that reaches to the waistline. Then there's the softly falling jabot revers that detract so beautifully from breadth.

There are many lovely materials that adapt themselves admirably to this model as flat crepe silk in plain or print, crepe silk, silk, pique, sheer lined tulle, dotted tulle and flannel or dotted voile.

Style No. 2859 is designed in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards of 36-inch material with 1/2 yard of 35-inch contrasting.

Pattern will be delivered upon receipt of TWENTY cents. Send in coin, carefully wrapped, or stamped, or bank to write paying your NAME, ADDRESS, EYES, HAIR, COLOR, and SIZE, with money order or cash receipt of 20c. All mail orders to Pattern Department, 1212 Broadway, New York, N. Y. Subscribers must allow 14 days for delivery.

Your Baby and Mine

WHEN IN DOUBT, DO NOTHING

Every mother sooner or later arrives at the little knowledge that when she doesn't know what to do in any given situation, the safest course is to do nothing.

Those of us who have attained to the point where we firmly believe in the wisdom of doing nothing have learned by bitter experience that nothing can be taught, but that many things cannot be learned except by doing. Once we have embraced that philosophy, we are content to wait and see what happens.

We come up against a situation that seems at the moment insoluble. Leave it alone—do nothing—and the situation dissolves. Doing nothing is the hardest and most irritating of all policies, yet it has over and over proved its effectiveness.

LEAVE ALONE

Almost every nervous habit with which children are afflicted has been left alone. Doing nothing wins more victories than all the elaborate methods conceived by a parent who is intent not on doing anything, but on well, but on doing something.

The nail-biters, the thumb-suckers, the eye-blinkers, the blanket-clutchers, the shoulder-druggers and the children with the habit of stammering or using some annoying word are all victims of habits. Not one of these habits is ever helped by doing anything which focuses attention upon it. These are a mother's but know this. She must, first, try everything, only to discover that it does not work. She has merely increased the child's absorption in his particular habit. Because of her agitation or fretfulness or persistent doing, the child has not been able to forget the habit for a minute. He couldn't stop the habit if he wanted to, because his interest and faith in his attention upon it.

WONT BEAT WATCHING

We know of no nervous habits that are not improved by doing nothing at all about the habit itself. The habit wears itself out. The child can't bear reminding. Those are futile and unsuccessful.
